

WHAT'S THE PROBLEM

Climate change dear loved ones is the symptom - not the problem

The problem we find in those invested in wars on earth and those who cause them...

If you want to implement solutions - you got to understand the problem so I've been told
So let's see how antifracking communities today face the same threat as native Americans living on land pregnant with gold ... then we see how colonial genocide has led to ecocide... how the story unfolds... and then we see...

Climate change forces us to reflect on unfinished struggle for liberation of colonialism
Where it is ok for rulers to sacrifice the sanctity of land, & locals to an ideology of violent expansionism... and fossil fuel & mineral extractivism

As for the symptom:

Climate change is not to blame - For oil spills, toxic dumping, chemical waste

Climate change is not a game - Where we can cheat and still end up first place

Climate change cannot be stopped - by mere good intentions, petitions or looking away

Climate change can not be bought off - It does not care for your opinion, your fears, your love...Your hate

As it was HATE a culture of colonialism that got us here

Some called it civilization, development, capitalism...

But who ever listened to the lived reality of the biosphere

Experiencing rape, greed, poison, speciesism...

Delusions about human supremacy allowed for crazy laws

For business to kill and sell old growth forests, native people and animals

Delusions of expanding empires offered excuses for war

Scavenge for fossil fuels, metals, and minerals & enslave the poor

And after centuries of impoverishment and decades of ecocide

The earth has presented us with its reply...Behold: Climate change

Climate change dear loved ones is the symptom - not the problem

The problem we find in policymakers invested in war on earth and those who cause them...

The political corrupt cause for BAD COPS to play dirty and engage with toxic trade

Its high time we unite to defy this culture of lies, fear, force and hate

Climate Justice is an umbrella for fighting for our right to peacefully co-exist

And for that to take place we must unite and strategically resist

This constant threat of capitalism as an ecological serial killer on the loose

Climate Change poses the question: Are we brave and compassionate enough to engage and to choose...

On the one side we have war on earth... a 21st century holocaust

The blood sacrifice of all life that will be lost

On the other we have changing the laws & sabotage

Of all corruption that is now in charge

Neither one will be pleasant or easy... but if you listen to your heart

It will tell you only one of those scenarios offers our humanity a fresh, green, just, sustainable, ecotopia... start!
